

Sunday - June 2, 2013

Satellite Symposium in Heart Failure

Kinsterna Hotel & Spa, Agios Stefanos-Monemvasia, Lakonia

Chair: Evangelia (Litsa) Kranias (University of Cincinnati, USA)

10:00-11:00

Keynote Lecture

Walter J. Koch, PhD

Professor, Temple University, Philadelphia, USA & Chairman of the Basic Cardiovascular Sciences Council of the American Heart Association

Novel Roles for GRKS in Cardiac Injury and Repair

11:00 – 11:30

Evangelia (Litsa) Kranias, PhD

Professor, University of Cincinnati, USA

Calcium Cycling Circuits in Heart Failure

Break

12:00 – 12:30

Evangelos Michelakis, MD

Professor, University of Alberta, Canada

The mysterious Right Ventricle

12:30 – 1:00

Anastasios (Tassos) Lympieropoulos, PhD, FAHA

Assistant Professor, Nova Southeastern University, USA

Adrenal GRK2 and beta-arrestins in heart failure: Fine-tuning the neurohormonal regulation of the heart

1:00 – 1:30

Constantine Anagnostopoulos, M.D, PhD

Associate Professor, Institute for Biomedical Research, Academy of Athens, Greece

Radionuclide Imaging of the Failing Heart

NOTE: The satellite symposium in Heart Failure is organized in conjunction with the 2nd Summer School in Medical & Biosciences Research & Management of the World Hellenic Biomedical Association